JOSEPH T. ROLEY KILLED IN UNIONTOWN AUTO ACCIDENT

Car Slides Into Tie Pile by Roadside and Overturns, Pinning Him Underneath

GIRL WITH HIM LITTLE HURT

Miss Bertha Jones Thrown Aside And Sustains But Slight Injuries—Body of Roley Brought Home to Belle Vernon Today.

Pinned underneath when his automobile overturned on the Uniontown road near Hopwood this morning after midnight, Joseph T. Roley, aged 32 years of Belle Vernon was instantly killed. Miss Bertha Jones, a pretty manicurist of Uniontown, who was in the car with him at the time, was somewhat injured and was taken to the Uniontown hospital. She is not not seriously hurt according to news from there today, and is not expected to die.

It was told that Roley and the girl were on their way back into Uniontown after a little jaunt into the country in Roley's automobile. In rounding a curve, it is said, the car skidded into a pile of ties and overturned in such a way that the drive was caught, and the girl thrown aside but not under the car.

A man by the name of Frank Mackey viewed the accident from a distance, and ran to the place. He tried to pull the machine off the dying Roley, but was unable and had to summon aid. When the car was finally lifted the well known Belle Vernon man was dead. His neck was broken, but his body was not mangled. The girl was picked up and rushed to the hospital.

Mr. Roley was born and raised in Belle Vernon and for years conducted a livery business there. He has been a member of the firm of Vance and Roley, automobile dealers, and was in a Dodge car when the accident happened. He was a son of the late "Squire" Roley, and his mother, Mrs. Hannah J. Roley, five sisters, and one brother survive. The brother is W. H. Roley, of Belle Vernon, and the sisters are Mrs. A. C. Sphar, of Maple Creek; Mrs Charles Reed, of Pittsburg; Mrs. Oscar A. Brawdy of Belle Vernon; Miss Jennie J. Roley and Miss Jessie Roley, of Belle Vernon.

The body was brought home from Uniontown today, and prepared for burial. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Tonight the regular monthly meeting of the borough council will be held in the council chambers, but it is expected that more than the regular routine of business will be taken up. Paving matters will probably be brought to the attention of the borough dads. On Meadow avenue paving is contemplated, and a petition has been prepared, and likely will be presented tonight for the grading and paving of the street from First street to Fourth street. Also an ordinance for the work has been prepared and may be taken up for first reading. Meadow avenue will probably be the first street paved this spring.

BRASS KING GETS SALTY SENTENCE

William Abel Goes to Workhouse for Six Months For Local Thefts

William L. Abel, alias William Leroy, known as the "Monongahela Valley Copper King," and the alleged leader of a gang that has been stealing hundreds of dollars' worth of copper and brass from the Carnegie Coal company at Charleroi, went before the court Monday and pleaded guilty to a charge of larceny. He was assessed a fine of $1 and costs, and was sent to the works for six months.

An alleged accomplice, Luther Brown, colored, who with Martin Higgins, also colored was arrested previously, pleaded guilty to larceny a week ago and got a three months' trip to the workhouse.

Monday Higgins entered a plea of guilty to a charge of receiving stolen goods and was sent to jail for four months with a $1 fine and the costs. The sentences were imposed by Judge McIlvaine.

JOHN T. STARR IS GRANTED LICENSE AT WEST BROWNSVILLE AFTER A RE-HEARING

Case of Man Refused at License Court is Reconsidered in Extra Session---Zwick Petition at Finleyville Fails to Win Sympathy

One more retail liquor license has been added to the list of Washington county as Monday afternoon Judge R. W. Irwin, who held a rehearing in the application of John T. Starr of West Brownsville granted the license making a total of 43 in all, of which number 31 are retail licenses, seven breweries and five distilleries. This will make one less license in Washington county than have been in force the past year.

Starr was refused a license at the regular hearings the first week in February but immediately got busy and secured a big supplemental petition and asked for a rehearing setting forth that he did not understand the rulings of the court at the regular hearings. He was granted a rehearing and as a result will enjoy the privilege of a retail license at least another year.

At Finleyville John J. Zwick who conducts a retail license there was refused and the license given to Mrs. Elizabeth Hayden. Monday morning Zwick presented a petition for a rehearing which was signed by many taxpayers of Finleyville and by some persons who had signed remonstrances. Judge Irwin handed down opinions disposing of both cases. Zwick however was refused a rehearing.

In his opinion Judge Irwin stated in effect that an injustice had been done Starr in the first hearing, that Starr had not understood requirements on the question of "necessity" and that he had shown every evidence of good faith.

QUICK TRANSFORMATION FROM POOL ROOM TO HOUSE OF RELIGIOUS WORSHIP ORDER TODAY

Prayer Meeting Held at Bill Phillips' Rooms Today---Business Men Present---Other Prayer Meetings Are Held

Important baseball matters have been settled, conclaves held and champion billiard and pool matches decided at the Bill Phillips' billiard and poo hall, but it remained for a party of evangelists holding forth at the Fifth street tabernacle to transform the place into a house of religious worship this morning.

At 10 o'clock the evangelist and his wife with a party of about 50 or 55 men gathered there. The sweet strains of "Nearer My God to Thee" and "Jesus Lover of My Soul" took the place of the click of ivory and the male voices instead of rising in a hubbub over some game, rose in exultation over true worship. Singing was led by Rev. E. N. Duty, pastor of the First Christian church, with accompaniment played on a small organ by Mrs. Luella M. Minges.

The meeting was the first prayer meeting that had been held in a pool room since the religious campaign started here. Later perhaps barrooms of hotels will be invaded. Last Saturday morning a prayer meeting was held at the real estate office of Henry Sheets. This was for business men, the same as was this morning's meeting. Several prayer meetings were conducted at various points this morning.

Monday evening the evangelistic party visited Monessen, where service was conducted at the Monessen Christian church. Song leader C. P. Rockwell took advantage of the off day to visit at his home in Andover, Ohio, and P. S. Wight and H. J. Bray were out of town.

This evening the regular service will ge held at the tabernacle, and the sermon theme will be "Great Salvation." Tomorrow morning prayer meetings will be held with Mrs. Clark Lancaster, 210 Lookout avenue; Mrs. George Davis, 811 1-2 Sixth street; Mrs. Flora D. Hill, in the Odd Fellows building on Fifth street; Mrs. Dunkerly, Speers, near the Railroad station; and Mrs. William Planton at North Charleroi. A meeting will also be held at the Eagle pool room.

Today at noon a shop meeting was conducted at the plant of the Macbeth-Evans Glass company, and tomorrow a meeting will be conducted at the Douglas Business college at 12:30.

EXCELLENT PICTURE TO BE SHOWN AT COYLE WEDNESDAY

"Cabiria" which is to be shown at the Coyle theatre Wednesday afternoon and evening is one of the most complete motion pictures ever staged. It was done in Turin by an Italian company at an expense that was obviously a record. Many of its most striking effects were obtained at the personal risk of one or many of the actors; but not one was inserted in the play because of its danger—a difference characteristic of the new era.

The storming of the walled city attempts to reproduce with some approach to historical truth the rude warfare of the ancients, and this manifest sincerity renders all the more thrilling the savage spear thusters that the swarming scales hurl from the battlements. As these walls are shown to be sixty feet or more in height, the desperate backward falls of these men, heads down hands and legs flying arre genuinely hair raising.

BUILDING OPERATIONS IN THE VICINITY OF HOUSTON

There are abundant promises of a building boom of notable proportions in Houston and vicinity this year. Last year six houses went up in the Mononger plan of lots at Mill Seat and so far this year nine lots have been sold and plans made for building in the same plan. W. K. Thompson of Canonsburg yesterday began work on a residence on one of the lots.

Several houses are to go up at Meadowlands in the very near future and other building operations in this immediate section are in sight.

TO BECOME CHORUS CONDUCTOR THE AIM OF YOUNG EVANGELIST

PAUL S. WIGHT

The only member of the evangelistic company now holding forth at the Fifth street tabernacle who rejoices in a pastor of a church as his father is Paul S. Wight, one of the most versatile of the party of seven. His father is Rev. Frank Wight of McKees Rocks. Mr. Wight aims to become a chorus conductor and to spend his years in evangelistic work. He took a course in music and language at the Mount Herman Preparatory school in Massachusetts, and later took up musical work at the Moody Institute in Chicago. He has studied with different musical men in Pittsburg and Chicago. Mr. Wight is the soloist with the male quartet that sings nightly. He holds the title with the company of superintendent of boy's work, having had experience in work among boys while assistant boy's secretary at the Erie Y. M. C. A. Among his first work of any nature was that in the P. R. R. offices in Cleveland. Incidentally Mr. Wight is the press agent of the company, his duties as such making him one of the most important members. He is an able writer.

PARALYZED FROM BAD WOUND

Coabac Shot up in Fight, Fails to Recover, is Discharged From Hospital and Thrown Out of Boarding House. But is Resting Easy.

Charles Coabac, who was nearly killed in a pistol fight at Van Voorhis on New Year's day, when another man was supposedly murdered is still playing the role of a much abused victim, and is beginning to wonder if his remaining days will have to be spent in a charity institution, or what will become of him.

It is alleged that at a battle at Van Voorhis in which Charles and John Schmuntzer, were active participants one man whose name was furnished at the time was killed and Coabac was shot through the shoulder. Coabac was removed to the Memorial hospital at Monongahela. His shoulder was fractured.

The wound did not heal well, and Coabac's entire right side became paralyzed. Two weeks ago he was discharged from the hospital all possible having been done for him. He managed to get back to Van Voorhis and to the home of his old boarding boss, Mike Proden. But Mike and his wife were not seeking charity patients and did not relish the idea of keeping a man who could not pay his room rent, so threw out the paralyzed Coabac.

The concluding scene of the present act in Coabac's story was laid in Monongahela. Alderman R. L. Elwood and others learned of Coabac's present misfortune, and took up his case. The result was he was sent to the county home, and there he will remain, at least for the time being. However, he will receive careful attention, for Coabac's testimony will be of tremdous value to the commonwealth when they start the investigation of the New Year's events at Van Voorhis.

DANGERS OF SPRING.

When nature arouses from her winter lethargy and the first faint promises of spring softens the wind man in common with all animal life harkens to the foretokening, says state commissioner of health Samuel G. Dixon.

The desire for change and relief from the winter routine is strong in us all and while this is the time when caution should be exercised our impulses seem to lead us to cast it aside. The high death rate from pneumonia and tuberculosis which is the inevitable accompaniment of the early spring months is an irrefutable evidence that this change from winter habits requires the exercise of caution to prevent evil results.

The city dweller in particular is apt to over-eat and under-exercise during the winter season. As a result when spring approaches his physical strength is below par, he becomes easily fatigued and therefore susceptible to the attacks of disease germs.

Old people who suffer from the cold during the winter and who do not appreciate that ventilation need not mean exposure, are apt to suffer from the sudden changes of temperature at this season of the year. It is particularly due to these winter habits of poor ventilation and insufficient exercise that when spring arrives we feel debilitated.

The sensible liver who sleeps the year round in the fresh air, eats in moderation and exercises rationally is far less subject to spring fever and spring ailments than the more self indulgent individual.

During March when fluctuations of the temperature are frequent, care should be taken to maintain an even bodily temperature by proper protection in the way of clothing. Better some slight discomfort at noon than to be chilled on the way home from work at night. Moderation in diet is also advisable. This with a reasonable amount of exercise and well ventilated sleeping rooms will aid in resisting the dangers accompanying the approach of spring.

"BY HIS WORK."

Senator Penrose has overwhelmed his enemies and silenced, probably forever, the malignant efforts of many of them to promote an investigation into his recent campaign for re-election by going from a sick bed at his home to his official duties at Washington.

While Senator Penrose was indisposed at his home it was industriously reported that his absence from Washington alone prevented a senatorial inquiry into his recent campaign. His return to Washington, even before his physicians were agreeable to his going, has completely stilled the investigation talk which has finally been followed by an official announcement that no investigation will be made.

But Senator Penrose's going to Washington bore other and more substantial fruit. He personally directed a fight which prevented a reduction in the pay of rural mail carriers, prevented the abolition of many rural mail routes, and finally he exposed and uncovered Democratic pretensions of improved industrial conditions by publicly rebuking a Democratic senator who boasted that Democracy was rapidly restoring prosperity to the country through the tragedy in the foreign war zone.

Senator Penrose with an immense number of other sensible people believes that the very best way to restore prosperity to this country is to turn the bungling Democrats out. They agree unanimously with James H. Park, of Pittsburg, a large manufacturer recently returned from Europe, who says:

"It is time now that the Republican business men get together, cut out petty politics and prepare for the next election, and send to oblivion the Democratic party for good. Democratic policies are alone responsible for the existing hard times."

PICKED UP IN PASSING

Pat was called into court to testify to a talk that he had had with the defendant in a civil suit, says an exchange, and everything went along as swimmingly as a flock of bullfrogs, until the lawyer attempted to bring out the important points of the conversation.

"Now, then, Pat," said he, encouragingly, "please tell the court what you and the defendant talked about."

"Yis, sor," answered Pat, willingly. "We talked about fifteen minutes."

"No, no, no!" interposed the lawyer. "I mean what did you and the defendant talk over?"

"Yis, sor," was the calm rejoinder of Pat. "We talked over the telephone, sor."

On the occasion of the annual encampment of a western militia one of the soldiers, a clerk who lived well at home, was experiencing much difficulty in disposing of his rations, relates an exchange.

A fellow sufferer near by was watching with no little amusement the first soldier's attempts to Fletcherize a piece of meat. "Any trouble, Tom?" asked the second soldier sarcastically.

"None in particular," was the response. Then, after a sullen survey of the bit of beef he held in his hand, the amateur fighterr observed:

"Bill, I now fully realize what people mean when they speak of the sinews of war."

Newspapers Voice Public Demand for Repeal of Full Crew Laws

Public sentiment, as expressed by the newspapers, overwhelmingly favors the repeal of the Full Crew—"excess man crew"—Laws.

On February 14th, the railroads of Pennsylvania and New Jersey frankly and fearlessly submitted to the Court of Public Opinion the reasons why these laws, which unnecessarily burden the people, should be repealed.

On this presentation of facts newspapers have taken position. Editorials to the number of 199 have so far come to the attention of the Railroads' Executive Committee. These group the newspapers on the proposition as follows:

For Repeal	162
Against Repeal . . .	10
Neutral	27

Following are excerpts from various newspapers:

Honest Proposition

Here is a perfectly fair and honest proposition that ought to receive the attention of the Legislature, and no doubt the great majority of the legislators are perfectly willing to consider it.—Evening Times, Trenton.

Full Crew Law Useless

It compels the railroads to pay men whom they do not need, men who are worse than useless because their idleness is demoralizing to the whole working force.—National Stockman and Farmer, Pittsburgh.

Unnecessary Men

From no source does it seem to be successfully maintained that all of the men now employed on trains are necessary to safety in operation.—Leader, Johnstown.

People Favor Repeal

The railroads—not always right—are absolutely right in asking for the repeal of the Full Crew Law, and we believe the people of the State will favor the action taken by the railroads.—Independent, Collegeville, Pa.

Fifth Wheel Men

These men are of no more use than a fifth wheel to a coach. Their presence on the trains is in no way helpful. It is rather detrimental than otherwise to the efficiency of the service.—Sunday Dispatch, Philadelphia.

Economically Unsound

The Full Crew Law is economically unsound. It provides for employment and payment of men who perform no useful function.—Tribune, New York.

Sop to Labor Vote

The law was simply a sop to the labor vote. Common justice demands the repeal of the "Full Crew" Law of New Jersey.—Gazette, Spring Lake, N. J.

Justice in Repeal

When all sides shall have been heard, it is not too hazardous to predict that the Legislatures of both States will recognize the justice of the appeal and retrace a step which was taken improvidently and without full knowledge of the facts.—Public Ledger, Philadelphia.

Most Impressive

As for the appeal of the railroads against the extra or Full Crew Law, it must be said that it is presented with a force of facts and figures and a directness of reasoning that is most impressive.—Intelligencer, Lancaster, Pa.

Common Sense Action

Repeal the Full Crew Law in the name of common sense.—Plain Dealer, Philadelphia.

Turn On the Light

The fact that the opponents of the repeal of the Full Crew Laws object to the light, that they do not want popular discussion, is very strong evidence in itself that they have a case that will not stand the light.—Morning Sun, Baltimore.

Objectionable Legislation

It follows that the Full Crew Laws are class legislation of a particularly objectionable kind.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Evidence to Public

The public is ready to hear the evidence and it is up to the parties concerned, the railroads and the trainmen, to submit their briefs. This the railroads are doing and to their credit, be it said, in an open and above-board manner.—Daily Republican, Millville, N. J.

Get Laws Repealed

There should be comparatively little difficulty in getting the Full Crew Laws of this and neighboring States repealed by an appeal to public opinion.—Record, Philadelphia.

By repeal of the Full Crew Laws there is no purpose to lay off men whose services are necessary to adequately man trains. Let that be understood. The object is merely to eliminate men for whom there is no real work and for whom jobs exist only by edict of law.

The railroads believe that the people will join in the fight for repeal of laws which put unnecessary burdens upon the public. They ask all citizens to help by communicating in person, by letter or otherwise with their elected representatives at Harrisburg and Trenton. This should be done now.

Lime-Loss in Tuberculosis

In the Journal of the American Medical Association (January 17, 1914) was the following:

"It has been many times stated that in tuberculosis or in the pre-tuberculosis stage an increased amount of calcium (lime) is lost, both in the urine and feces. In fact, a demineralization has been thought to be a forerunner of the development of tuberculosis."

"Forced feeding of tuberculosis patients and the enormous amount of eggs and milk once given such patients are not now considered advisable by a large number of physicians who are specializing in the treatment of pulmonary tuberculosis."

If tuberculosis is due to a loss of lime from the system, the success of Eckman's Alterative in the treatment of this disease may be due, in part, to the fact that it contains a lime salt so combined with other valuable ingredients as to be easily assimilated.

Always we have urged users of Eckman's Alterative to attend strictly to matters of food.

In addition to rest and proper diet, some effective remedial agent seems to be needed, and in numerous cases of apparent recovery from tuberculosis and kindred throat and bronchial affections Eckman's Alterative has supplied this need.

It does not contain opiates, narcotics or habit-forming drugs, so it is safe to try. Your druggist has it or will order it, or you can get it from us direct.

BIG SUNDAY SCHOOL TOUR WILL BE MADE

Marion Lawrence and Others of Note to Visit County Seat of This County Saturday, March 20—To be Educational Tour.

Announcements are being made of a coming tour of Marion G. Lawrence, of Chicago, Ill., general secretary of the international Sunday school association, and other noted Sunday school men. They will begin their tour March 15 and finish up March 27, visiting in the meantime points in Indiana, West Virginia, Pennsylvania and Ohio. The party will visit Washington on Saturday, March 20, when their program will include a children's meeting, with stereopticon pictures, a boy's meeting, two great mass meetings and a dinner. It is expected several will attend the affair from Charleroi. The question of how the 6,000,000 men and women in North America's Sunday schools build a wall around the 12,000,000 boys and girls now enrolled strong enough to safe guard and hold them for the future, will be discussed principally.

In the party will be Marion Lawrence, W. C. Pearce of Chicago, superintendent Adult division and educational department of the International Sunday School association; Dr. George H. Lau, of Detroit, Mich., director of the May festival chorus, a dentist and lay worker in the Woodward Avenue Presbyterian church in Detroit, Mich., George W. Bond, a stereoptican man; Bert Cashman, of Chicago, Ill., secretary to Marion Lawrence, together with men of international repute.

On rare occasions the International Association conducts inspirational and educational tours. This year the tour will cover various districts of North America. The men with the party are to speak generally of the conditions, needs, and opportunities of the Adult Bible class work of North America, which leads the Sunday school work in the world.

Woman's Beauty No Secret.

It all lies in the care she bestows upon herself and in keeping at bay those dread ills peculiar to her sex. The flashing eye, the elastic step and the clear complexion never accompany organic troubles. The distressed expression, lassitude, headaches and mental depression are only the tell-tale symptoms. Women so troubled should take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, that simple remedy made from roots and herbs and restore their health to a normal condition. Adv.

SPARE GOVERNOR PRUNING TASK

Appropriation Committees Say They Will Be Careful

NOT TO OVERREACH MARK

Two Years Ago the Legislature Appropriated Many Millions More Than Were Available in the State Treasury—Fight to Repeal Full Crew Bill Grows In Intensity—Other Legislative News.

Harrisburg, March 2. — Governor Brumbaugh is determined that the appropriation committees of the senate and house will at this session perform their work with a view of giving to the state the benefit of their deliberations rather than to the individuals on the respective committees. In other words, the governor does not want the committees to recommend the full amounts asked for by institutions if they know that there is not sufficient funds in the state treasury to meet such appropriations. In case any attempt is made by the committees to make themselves "good fellows," and shift the work of cutting down the amounts to the governor, the latter will recall the legislature. He will not tolerate a repetition of the condition of two years ago.

SENATOR CLARENCE J. BUCKMAN
Chairman of Senate Appropriation Committee.

But it is not likely that there will be any clash between the governor and the committees on this score. Chairman Buckman of the senate committee, and Chairman Woodward, of the house committee, both insist that when the appropriations leave their hands they will not be in excess of the amount the treasury will stand.

Square Deal For Governor.

"We are doing everything within our power to give the governor a square deal on this appropriation work," said Chairman Buckman recently. "I realize, and every member of the committee realizes, that an injustice was done Governor Tener in 1913. By reason of the fact that fifteen or sixteen million dollars in excess of the amount available was appropriated, he had to make a horizontal cut in the appropriation bills. As a result all charities suffered regardless of the merits of their claims. To avoid this the committees will work night and day."

The men who make up the committees on appropriation are now going over the state visiting institutions seeking state aid. Because of the probability of a short session numerous sub-divisions of the committees are being made and the present arrangement will make possible a call on every hospital and public home within the commonwealth.

Fight For Repealer.

The fight for the repeal of the full crew bill goes merrily on. Members of both branches are being flooded with literature on the subject, most of which comes from the side of the railroads. Display advertising, inserted by the companies, are appearing in newspapers throughout Pennsylvania and the people "at home" are being importuned to demand of their representative and senator that they cast their votes in favor of the 1911 law.

A favorite method of campaign is the sending of petitions to legislators. These petitions contain the names of employes who, it is set forth, want the act repealed. According to the railroad companies thousands of freight hands are finding that the full crew law is operating to their disadvantage, and they are therefore anxious to go back to the old system, when the companies hired as many men as they thought necessary to protect the public and their own rolling stock.

What Trainmen Say.

Naturally this activity on the part of the companies has stirred up the trainmen who favor the law, and lines of defense are being formed to resist the attempt to repeal. The Brotherhood members contend that the petitions mailed to the legislature are not bona fide, in that many of them contain the signatures of charwomen and others who are not affected by the law and who really are not in sympathy with the movement of their employers.

One of the arguments the trainmen will use in fighting the repealer will be that the railroads recently increased passenger fares to meet the alleged additional cost of extra men; that in their huge advertisements they lay much stress upon the improvements they would be willing to make in the event the law is repealed, but that they refrain from promising to restore the old fares. For this reason, say Brotherhood men, the public should not be interested in the contest, as it affects none but the company and the men.

There is a decided sentiment among legislators for the bill to increase the efficiency of the state police by adding additional troops. An increase in the salary of the men is also contemplated. No longer is the state police of Pennsylvania an experiment. The work of Major Groome's men has proven such a success that other states have commissions appointed to look into the system, with a view of putting through bills for state police on the lines of the Pennsylvania force.

Will Attract Better Men.

It is thought that if the pay of the state police is increased a better class of men will enlist. At present the force contains some excellent timber, but generally speaking, in point of caliber, it is not comparable with the men who first joined the organization. Persons who reside in the neighborhood of some of the barracks constantly complain of the boisterous conduct of state policemen. In addition to this charge, local police authorities claim that members of the constabulary are in the habit of using third degree methods that are under the ban in the large cities of the country. Those back of the present bill believe that if it is enacted there will be a big improvement in the personnel of the force and that Major Groome will be able to fully restore the confidence that nearly all the people of Pennsylvania one time had in it.

Before the supreme court last week the appeal of Auditor General Powell and State Treasurer Young from the decision of the Dauphin county court in the matter of the auto license funds was heard. This involves more than $1,000,000 derived from automobile registration and license fees. The act of 1913 gives the highway commissioner unrestricted control of the fund, and it is the contention of Messrs. Powell and Young that the act is clearly unconstitutional.

For Road Purposes.

This money is to be used for the upkeep of the roads, and the work of the highway department has been greatly hindered in the past year by reason of the funds being withheld. Former Attorney General Bell appeared for Highway Commissioner Bigelow, and the auditor general and state treasurer were represented by J. Hampton Todd.

There will be no radical alterations by the legislature in the system of road improvements. The governor in his message advocated a new beginning unless the present plan is carried out more logically, with adequate provision for maintenance and rerouting. The legislature will try to perfect the existing act so as to make its provisions conform with the wishes of Governor Brumbaugh, Senator Sproul and others interested in good roads.

The movement to carve a new county out of lower Luzerne and upper Schuylkill and call it Penrose county, received a death blow when the house committee on new counties and townships decided to negative the bill. This agitation has been going on for over twenty-five years.

Before leaving for Florida last week State Senator McNichol, of Philadelphia, stated that the leaders of both the senate and house want to cooperate with Governor Brumbaugh in passing a just workmen's compensation act, and also in putting on the statute books satisfactory child labor laws. He predicted that an agreement will be reached on these subjects.

A bill is in the legislature to reduce the price of a license to sell oleomargarine from $100 to $10. Oleo dealers claim the present high license works a hardship upon their business.

Passage of a resolution by the legislature placing the blame for the present industrial depression on the Democratic tariff policy has attracted attention throughout the country. Other states are now taking similar action.

There is a strong sentiment for one tax office in boroughs and cities of the state. A bill to place the collection of all taxes in a single collector in third class cities has been presented.

Taxpayers are put to great inconvenience in tramping from one office to another, and the poorer class, those who cannot pay their obligations in the specified time, are confronted with double costs. All the inconvenience and the double penalty could be avoided if one collector were named for all of the taxes. It should also be possible to make such changes that the duplicates for the collection of all of the taxes will be in the hands of the collector at the same time.

This reform can be enacted without taking in the other questions and it can be opposed only by men who make use of extra offices merely to reward political hangers-on.

Effects of Love.

Willie—Paw, does love make the world go round? Paw—I guess it does, my son. I had a touch of the disease just before I got married and I have been seasick ever since. Maw—Willie, you go up in the attic and stay there until I call you.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

On the Safe Side.

Willie—When will the world come to an end, mamma? Mother — Nobody knows, dear. Willie—Hadn't I best eat my candy cane at once and be on the safe side?—Chicago News.

No success is attained by a leap and a bound, but by patient plodding and many resolves.

Ruskin's Political Views.

Ruskin was once a candidate for the rectorship of Glasgow university and flew into a rage when asked by a deputation of the students whether his political sympathies lay with Beaconsfield or with Gladstone. "What in the devil's name," he exclaimed, "have you to do with either Disraeli or Gladstone? You are students at the university and have no more business with politics than you have with rat catching. Had you ever read the words of mine with understanding you would have known that I care no more either for Mr. Disraeli or Mr. Gladstone than for two old bagpipes with the drones going by steam, but that I hate all Liberalism as I do Beelzebub, and that with Carlyle I stand—we two alone in England—for God and the queen."—London Express.

Character Shown by the Nose.

"Here is an article in the paper that says a woman's character can be determined by her nose."

"Well, there may be something in that, but there's a surer way. No one can make a mistake concerning a woman's character if he will look at the noses of other women who meet her. The extent to which they turn up at such times shows just what she is or isn't."—Exchange.

Industry.

It argues, indeed, no small strength of mind to persevere in the habits of industry without the pleasure of perceiving those advantages which, like the hands of a clock, while they make hourly approaches to their point yet proceed so slowly as to escape observation.—Sir Joshua Reynolds.

His Objection.

The Lawyer—Madam, what is your age? The Opposition (interrupting)—Your honor, I submit that my honorable opponent is inciting the witness to perjury.—Cleveland Leader.

His System.

Wife—John, there must be a lot of iron in your system. Husband—Why do you think so? Wife—Because you invariably lose your temper when you get hot.

He who cannot forgive others breaks the bridge over which he must pass himself, for every man has need to be forgiven.

To Avoid Worry.

If you would avoid worry train yourself to be methodical and to act up to the good old maxim of never putting off till tomorrow what can be done today.

Their Glee.

ROBBERIES TAKE PLACE ALONG PIGEON CREEK

Thieving Continues at Bentleyville And Nearby Points—Homes Entered and Pillaged and Raids are Made on Chicken Coops.

The petty thieving which has been rampant in the Bentleyville community for months past, continues. There is a feeling more of pity than of censure as it is keenly realized and especially in the different mining communities that conditions are none too good.

The home of William R. Stephens was entered one night last week. Entrance to the house was gained through the cellar. The cellar door had been left unfastened making it an easy matter to gain entrance to the residence. A trunk full of summer clothing was stolen and a ham of meat. Other valuables were left alone, showing possibly that the intent of the marauders was not to steal for the thing which might bring the most money but in order to keep body and soul together.

The grocery store of W. J. Wilson in the northern part of town was entered through a basement window on Tuesday night and articles of food taken along with some cigars. Other valuables were left again demonstrating that the particular wants of the persons was food. There are no clews to either of the robberies.

Samuel A House a well known resident in the southern part of town reports the repeated losses of some fine chickens. He has been losing them two and three at a time, showing that whoever is taking them is trying to be as lenient as possible.

ARE TAKING STOCK OF THEIR NARCOTIC DRUGS

Druggists in Charleroi and Other Places Make Arrangements for Carrying Out Provisions of New Federal Law Now Effective.

Druggists of Charleroi in common with their fellows in other parts of the land were exceedingly busy Monday taking stock in order to comply with the requirements of the new narcotic drug act which became effective then. The sworn report of every druggist as to the exact amount of the narcotic drugs in stock on March 1 must be made out and filed with the federal authorities by March 5, Pittsburg being the point where druggists of this section must make their reports. This report also applies to physicians who must make sworn statements as to their present stock of narcotics.

Under the new law everything within the provisions of the new law must be ordered by druggists on special requisition blanks. Copies of these go to the federal authorities and copies are kept on file by druggists. Physicians also are required to use special blanks and duplicates and no prescription for drugs included in the act can be refilled. Both druggists and physicians are required to have special licenses in order to handle or prescribe the drugs in the list.

The drugs covered by the act include opium, morphine, codein, heroin, coca leaves, cocaine or any preparation made from them.

Enormous Rainfall In Hawaii.

The rainfall on the island of Hawaii varies greatly, ranging from the enormous downpour of 333 inches a year in the upper Waipio valley to twenty inches on some of the slopes of Hualalai. The only surface streams on the island are found along the northeast coast between Hilo and Kohala. Waipio river, according to the United States geological survey, is the largest stream on the island and has been partly developed for irrigation. At Kapoho, on the east point of the island, warm water flows from seams in the rocks. These warm springs flow into a pool about 100 feet long, 25 feet wide and 20 feet deep. The pool is entirely surrounded by rocks, and its color varies in shade from a beautiful blue to violet. Waiapele, or Green lake, is a body of fresh water in the pit of an old crater near Kapoho. This lake covers an area of about five acres and is fed by springs below the surface. A pumping plant takes water from this lake for domestic use and for irrigation.

Military Music.

"No one in time of peace can understand what war is," writes Rose Charles E. Jefferson in the Woman's Home Companion. "We may prepare for it, but we do not realize what it is we are preparing for. Military preparations are quite interesting, even exciting. Boys and girls are always fascinated by the paraphernalia of battle. Never have the instruments of war been so intricate and sparkling as now. All the trappings of the military world are alluring.

"Military music is full of piercing notes, which set the corpuscles of the blood dancing. But military music is not the music of war. The music of war is the groans of wounded and dying men and the sobs of broken hearted women. Military music is one of the embroidered veils thrown over the face of war to make boys think that war is glorious."

A Mulberry Tree Legend.

The mulberry, "wisest of trees," as Pliny termed it, really "likes" London and fruits profusely even in the grounds of the Charterhouse, at murky Smithfield. London mulberry trees are mainly derived from a fad of James I., who wanted to found a silk growing industry. With the proverbial folly of a pedant, the British Solomon introduced the black mulberry, disliked by silkworms, instead of the white variety, which forms their food. The black mulberry had been planted by Cardinal Pole at Lambeth in 1555, and there were still older specimens in the garden of Syon House. According to a pretty Greek legend, all mulberries were originally white, but a mulberry tree was growing beside "Ninny's tomb" when Pyramus and Thisbe died there, and the blood of the lovers turned the fruit to its present color.
